Hello Jim.

Well don't fall completly over when you get this letter but I am in the army since Jan. 15. and 2 more weeks and I get my paratrooper wings the hardest part is over I'll be stationed at Ft. Bragg N. C. with the 82nd Div not to crazy about this army as yet but I got a long ways to go. Sure wish I was back working for Pass. We had some pretty good times rember that old truck. What are you doing for excitement these days. today is payday and everybody is drunk but me. and I'm C.Q. or I would be to I'm squad leader and pat. our plt. Sgt. is a P.F.C. so you can see all the rank around here. HA! HA!

how is the plumbing coming along boy any plums yet. I joined the army because its was the best thing I could do I thought. I got down on the other side of Dalls and got to drinking and you know how I follow the curbs when I'm drunk well there wont any curb so I went looking for one and found a semi instead and so I got out and hitch-hike back to Dallas and then St.
Louis and the Finance Co. and Insurance Co and Texas was looking for me so I thought I better do something so I enlisted. Say I wonder if you would do me a favor and send my Moter Cycle to me COD when I get to Bragg I can sell it for $425. without battling an eye ther is some rest deal on the Garage but I'll take care of that with you but I won't do nothing until I hear from you this airborne training isn't the easyest I ever done either I never run so much before in my life thats all these people prow dawm here is double-time and it really sweats the old whiskey out of you Meet any new girls since I have been gone and who are you running around with these days as for my share of these Georgia peaches you can have them all, you all.

Well waiting to hear from you Jim so please answer soon and don't tell everybody you see I'm in the army either O.K.

Your Pal and buddy
~~Ward~~ Hooper

PS I'll put my name on the envelope so you will prow what it is
