A Message for Your WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

I send an orchid darling
from far across the sea.
Because that flower expresses best how dear you are to me!
And with my orchid, sweetheart,
You'll find a rare bouquet--
My tender loving wishes
Our Anniversary day.

Honey tommorrow is Jims birthday my wedding present to you. a day that neither one of us can ever forget, and while it is still a very short time to our wedding anniversary you always wanted to celebrate it on Jims birthday, and so did I, this is another year in which it is impossible for me to be home for that celebration, but I can still think back and get a picture of that day just as vivid as though it were yesterday. I swore that morning I was going to try to make you the happiest woman in the world and Jim the happiest and best boy in the world. In some ways I didnt succeed entirely, but on the other hand I wonder how many of us really do. There have been days when you were angry with me I should never have left even one minute to go by like that and I am truly sorry that I did. But when I look back were there ever very many days like that? With Jim I am also pretty sure I kept my promise, and while once again there were days when he must have been angry with me. I felt it was for his good it must take discipline of some sort to train a boy. maybe I used the right method for him and maybe not, but in either case you never complained and I know now our efforts have been well rewarded so far. yes you were wonderfully patient and wonderful about it and I guess that is why I have been loving you. It took the combined efforts of both of us for that job, and I am perfectly willing to admit the lions share of the credit should go to you, not only for the care and affection you gave to Jim, but also for the understanding you had for me when I look back I am sure I didnt always appreciate you as much as I should have, but I am sure when you married me you knew I had my
